

I N D E X

T O T H E

T E X T.

[The Numerals denote the Volume ; the Figures the Pages.]

A

ABERRIGINES, i. 27.
Abolition of debts. See Poor.
Aborigines natives, i. 26.
 — originally from Greece, i. 28.
 — descended from the Oenotri, i. 34, 205.
 — a colony of the Arcadians, i. 28,
 288.
 — some imagine them to be the same
 with the nation of the Leleges, i.
 27.
 — whence their name is derived,
 ib.
 — they dispossess the Siceli of their territories, i. 24.
 — expel the Umbri and Siceli, i. 38,
 39.
 — never put their children to death,
 i. 39.
 — possess the Reatine country, i. 307.
 — began to be called Latines, under their king Latinus, i. 25.
 — the cities of the Aborigines, i. 35.
Abstemious ceremonies of Ceres, i. 74.
Acallaris, daughter of Eumedes, i.

142.

VOL. IV.

Acanthus, the Lacedæmonian, was the first who ran in the stadium
 naked, iii. 270.
Acaruanes, in what manner they were rewarded by the Romans, i. 117.
Acclamation, the people signify their will by it, ii. 292.
Acestorides, archon at Athens, ii. 368.
Achæi, in Pontus, degenerated from the Greeks, i. 206, 7.
Achæus, son of Neptune and Larissa,
 i. 41.
Achaia, Peloponnesus so called from the Achæians, i. 59.
 — part of Hæmonia, or Thessaly, so called from Achæus, i. 41.
Achilles loses three ships, i. 120.
 — celebrates games at the funeral of Patroclus, ii. 339.
 — his shield made by Vulcan, iii. 272.
C. Acilius, his account concerning the cleansing of the aqueducts, ii. 130.
Acquisitions of two forts, ii. 78.
Acrostics prove the modern Sibylline oracles to be impostures, ii. 263.
Actium, its situation, i. 114.

D d d

Actius.

Ætius. See Clausus.

Adies, or Asies, son of Cotys, i. 60.

Adultery punished with death, i. 270.

L. Æbutius, consul, iv. 120.

— dies of the plague, iv. 121.

T. Æbutius Elva, consul, ii. 404.

— is appointed general of the horse, by A. Postumius, the dictator, iii.

4.

— deprives the Latines of provisions, iii. 7.

— is posted in the left wing of the Roman army, iii. 8.

— being wounded in a single combat with Octavius Mamilius, he falls from his horse, iii. 17.

Æbutius, the son of Titus, is appointed one of the deputies sent to the seceders, iii. 104.

Ædiles, οἱ ἀγορανομοί. iii. 137, 8.

— from whence they had their name, and what were their functions, iii. 137, 146.

— were ministers to the tribunes, iii. 137.

— are empowered by the senate to decorate the festivals, iii. 146.

— are honoured by the senate, with royal ensigns, ib.

— are repulsed by the patricians, while they were arresting Marcus, by order of the tribunes, iii. 191.

— Volero, the tribune, brings in a law, by which the ædiles were to be created in the tributa comitia, iv. 79, 80.

— the election of the ædiles and tribunes performed in the tributa comitia, iv. 90.

— the violence offered to the ædiles, was equally criminal with that offered to the tribunes, iii. 202.

Ædileship, a Plebeian magistracy, ii. 342.

Ægesta, a town in Sicily, by some called Segesta, i. 120.

Ægestus, the Trojan in Sicily, by what accident born, i. 119.

— flies into Sicily, i. 120.

Ægestus, chief of the Lavinian priesthood, i. 150.

Ægestus, son of Numitor, i. 175.

— is assassinated by order of Amulius, ib.

Æmilia, the vestal, her prayer to Vesta, and escape from danger, i. 349.

L. Æmilius Mamercus, by order of the senate, stands for the consulship, iii. 419.

— marches against the Volsci, iii. 421.

— through shame of an ignominious defeat, remains in his camp, iii. 426.

— is second time consul, iv. 30.

— marches with an army into Tyrrenia, iv. 31.

— overcomes, and puts the Veientes to flight, iv. 32.

— is exasperated against the senate for denying him a victory, iv. 34.

— is third time consul, iv. 69.

— what opinion his father gave, concerning the division of the public lands, iv. 93.

Tib. Æmilius, consul, iv. 92.

— marches against the Sabines, iv. 100.

— is second time consul, iv. 108.

— harrasses the Sabines, ib.

Ænea, a town of Latium, called so from Æneas; and afterwards called Janiculum, i. 167.

Æneada, their removal, i. 112.

Æneas, son of Anchises and Venus, i. 142.

— his progenitors, ib.

— in what manner he conveyed his father from Troy, i. 104.

— upon what conditions he obtained leave of the Greeks to depart from Troy, i. 105, 6.

- the reason why he betrayed his country, according to Menecrates, i. 109.
- flies from Asia into Europe, iii. 120.
- arrives with the Trojans in Italy, i. 100.
- where he landed in Italy, ib. and 118.
- the arrival of Æneas in Italy is variously related by authors, i. 102.
- some deny that he ever was there, i. 124.
- concerning the arrival of Æneas in Italy. See the dissertation at the end of the first book.
- some assert that he retired out of Italy into Phrygia, i. 125.
- Æneas brings with him ceremonies into Italy, i. 345.
- what those ceremonies were, i. 155.
- a truce being made with Latinus, and the Rutuli conquered, he builds Lavinium, i. 136.
- succeeds Latinus, i. 144.
- arrives in Italy from the Molossi, after Ulysses, and is said to have built Rome. i. 164.
- is slain in battle, i. 145.
- the temple of Æneas, i. 122, 26, and 46.
- the statue of Æneas, i. 115.
- his epitaph, i. 146.
- his daughters married in Arcadia, i. 111.
- his four sons, i. 163.
- Romulus and Remus are said to be the sons of Æneas, i. 166.
- the races of Æneas and Venus, i. 114.
- Æneas Silvius*, king of the Latines, i. 157.
- Ænus*, a town of Thrace, built by Æneas, called also Ænea, i. 112.
- Æqui*, infest the confines of the Latines, iii. 54.
- are conquered, iii. 64.
- are in alliance with the Volsci against the Romans, iii. 304.
- the Æqui and Volsci, in an expedition against the Romans, turn their arms against one another, iii. 381.
- the Æqui make incursions into the Latin territories, iii. 436.
- take Hortona, iii. 437. and iv. 180.
- invade the Latines, iv. 2.
- are forced by Fabius to retire to their own cities, iv. 25.
- make an alliance with the Volsci against the Romans, iv. 30.
- are beaten and plundered by Servius Furius, the proconsul, iv. 31.
- the Æqui and Volsci are beaten by the Latines, iv. 67.
- are plundered by Titus Quintius, iv. 90.
- by Valerius, iv. 100.
- evacuate a fortress of the Antiates, iv. 107.
- on what conditions they accepted of a peace from the Romans, iv. 109.
- they violate that peace, ib.
- make an incursion into the Roman territories by unguarded roads, iv. 113.
- advance as far as Tusculum, iv. 167.
- infest the Latines, iv. 172.
- being led under the yoke by the Romans, they deliver up Corbio, together with their general, iv. 177.
- take up arms again, iv. 179.
- march to Corbio, and put the Roman garrison there to the sword, iv. 179.
- are forced by Horatius to retire to their cities, iv. 188.
- again annoy the Tusculani, iv. 211.
- lose their camp and the victory, iv. 217.

- designing to attack the Romans during the plague, are themselves afflicted with it, iv. 231.
- make another irruption into the territories of the Tusculani, iv. 252.
- incamp at Algidum, ib.
- are defeated by Valerius, iv. 343.
- Æquicoli*, their feciales, i. 355.
- Æquinox*, the beginning of seed time about the autumnal Æquinox, iii. 148.
- Æsculapius*, one of the demigods, iii. 277.
- the island of Æsculapius, ii. 334.
- M. Ætilius*, his punishment for parricide, ii. 262.
- Ætoli*, formerly Curetes, i. 41, 117.
- Æzii*, a people afterwards called Lycæonians, and Oenotri, i. 31.
- Æzius*, his reign and posterity, i. 30.
- Æzius* and Phoroneus were the first kings of Peloponnesus, ib.
- Agatharchus*, of Corcyra, victor at the olympic games, ii. 229.
- Age*, at the age of twenty years the manly gown was taken at Cumæ, iii. 165.
- Servius, at the age of twenty years is appointed to command the auxiliaries, ii. 147.
- the laws permitted the Romans at the age of thirty, to enter upon the commonwealth, ii. 154.
- at forty five, a citizen was discharged from serving in the field, ii. 177.
- thirty years was the proper age for entering upon the administration of public affairs, ii. 212.
- those who are past the military age were employed in the defence of the walls, iii. 342. and iv. 8.
- those were obliged by the Roman laws to marry, who were of a proper age, iv. 42.
- a cohort of those past the military age voluntarily follow their leader to the war, iv. 212.
- Agonenses* instituted by T. Hostilius, i. 351.
- Agrarian* law is debated, iii. 397.
- is postponed for more than thirty years, iv. 197.
- is referred to the people by the tribunes, ib.
- is opposed, iv. 207.
- again opposed, iv. 211.
- for what reason this affair is protracted by the consuls, iv. 70.
- those who hindered the passing of the Agrarian law, are fined, iv. 208, 9, 10.
- the debate is warmly carried on, iv. 73.
- is first brought in by Cassius, iv. 92, 3.
- Sp. Cassius*, author of the Agrarian law, iv. 204.
- See Lands.
- Agreements*, compulsive agreements are seldom lasting, iii. 357.
- Agriculture* and war, the study of them is united by Romulus, i. 276.
- Agriculture* and grazing, recommended by Ancus Marcius, ii. 83.
- Agrippas*, king of Alba, i. 158.
- Agrippa*, see Menenius.
- Agylla*, called so by the Pelasgi, and afterwards called Cære by the Tyrhenians, i. 47. and ii. 116.
- Ajax* and Ulysses, their wrestling, iii. 270.
- Ajus Locutius*, see Faunus.
- Alba Longa*, its founder, situation, and fortune, i. 102, and 148, 9.
- Alba*, the mother of thirty Latin cities, is raised by Marcus Horatius, and its citizens transplanted to Rome, ii. 62, 72.
- Alban* country, fruitful, i. 83, 149.

INDEX to the TEXT. 383

- Alban* kings, a catalogue of them, i. 158.
- hill, the Latin festivals kept upon it, iii. 428.
  - nation, of what people composed, i. 222.
  - patricians, removed to Rome, ii. 69.
  - war, the cause, the general, and the event of it, ii. 5.
  - wine, delicious, i. 149.
- Albans*, after the demise of Numitor, chose annual dictators, instead of kings; according to Licinius, ii. 433.
- Albans* and Romans, their treaty under Romulus, ii. 5.
- Albas Silvius*, king of the Latines, i. 158.
- Albinus*, see Postumius.
- Albula*, the ancient name of the Tiber, i. 158.
- Alcæus* the poet is proscribed, ii. 430.
- Alcyone*, a priestess of Argos, i. 51.
- Algidum*, the camps of the Æqui and Volsci before it, iv. 169, 252.
- the Romans greatly beaten there, iv. 284, 5.
- Alladius*, king of Alba, i. 158, 9.
- Allies* of the Romans were obliged to send succours to Rome in time of war, iv. 171.
- the Latines and Hernici send double the number ordered; iv. 8.
  - the allies could neither create a general, nor lead out forces when they pleased; iii. 303, 4.
  - the Romans send sceptres and diadems to the kings their allies, as a confirmation of their government, ii. 121.
  - the forces of the allies were equal to those of the city, in the Tyrrhenian war, iv. 23, 31.
  - whatever was acquired after alliance was in common among the confederates, iii. 404, 7.
  - those powers exercise their resentment against the allies, who did not do it against the Romans themselves, iv. 180.
- Alontium*, its situation, i. 117.
- Alps*, i. 26.
- Alston*, its situation, i. 47.
- Altar*, the royal altar, and the sacrifice usually laid upon it, ii. 146.
- an altar overturned by lightning, iv. 9.
  - a subterraneous altar, i. 280, 1.
- Altars*, erected to swear upon, and ratify a treaty, i. 305.
- Amata*, the wife of Latinus, i. 145.
- Ambracian bay*, i. 115.
- Ambrax*, king of Ambracia, ib.
- Amiternum*, its situation, i. 37, 310.
- Amnesty*, offered to all those who had fled with Tarquinius, if they would return to the city within twenty days, ii. 334.
- an amnesty proposed to the seceders, iii. 73.
- Amphictyon*, his institutions, ii. 197.
- the Amphictyonic council and laws, id. ib.
- Amphitheatrical portico*, ii. 132.
- Amulius* defrauds his elder brother Numitor of the kingdom, i. 174.
- reigned forty two years at Alba, i. 159.
  - is slain, i. 195.
- Amyntor*, son of Phrastor, i. 63.
- Anactorium*, its situation, i. 117.
- Anchise*, so called from Anchises, i. 167.
- Anchisensian table*, i. 169, 70.
- Anchises*, son of Capys, father of Æneas, i. 142.
- his chappel, i. 146.
  - the haven of Anchises, i. 116.
- Anchises*, archon at Athens, iii. 282.
- Ancilia*, or bucklers of the Salii, i. 354.
- Ancus..*

384 INDEX to the TEXT.

- Ancus*. see Marcus.
Ancus Publicius of Cora, the Latin general, ii. 79.
Anio, the name of a river, ii. 51.
 — runs not far from the holy mountain, iii. 69.
 — its course and quality, ii. 369.
 — the confluence of the Anio, and the Tiber, ii. 112.
Anius, king of Delos, i. 112, 136.
Annals, Greek, i. 20.
 — what the annals of Fabius relate concerning the death of Aruns Tarquinius, ii. 209.
 — for what reason they are mistaken in their relation of the tyrants of Sicily, iii. 153.
 — the annals of Piso, ii. 157, 174.
Annibal, his war, i. 255.
Annual magistrates, i. 326.
Annual magistrates at Athens, as well as at Rome, iv. 101.
Annual dictators among the Albans, instead of kings, ii. 433.
Antemna, taken formerly by the Oenotri, or Aborigines, from the Siceli, i. 288.
 — made a colony of Rome, ib.
 — the founders of the Antemnates, i. 39.
 — taken by Romulus, i. 283.
 — assists the Tarquinii against the Romans, ii. 346.
Antenoridæ, their treachery, i. 102.
Antemone, daughter of Æneas, i. 111.
Antias, son of Ulysses, founder of Antium, i. 165.
Antigenes, archon at Athens, iii. 152.
Antiochus, of Syracuse, a very old historian, i. 32, 78, 167.
Antistius Petron, killed by the treachery of Sex. Tarquinius, ii. 253, 4.
Antium, chief city of the Volsci, iii. 283. iv. 102.
 — the Æqui incamp near it, iv. 213.
 — the people of Antium enter into a treaty with Tarquinius Superbus, ii. 240.
 — assist the Aricini, ii. 366.
 — send help to the Latines, iii. 5.
 — send troops to the Coriolani, iii. 140.
 — are beaten by Postumus Cominius, iii. 143.
 — are obliged to dismiss the Sicilian ambassadors, iii. 206.
 — a small seaport town of the Volsci is taken with some ships belonging to the Antiates in it, together with their furniture, iv. 102, 3.
 — the Antiates, and the garrison of the Æqui surrender to Quintius, iv. 107.
 — a colony is led out by the triumvirs into the country of the Antiates, iv. 108.
 — the exiles of the Antiates, together with the Æqui, make an incursion into the territories of the Latines, iv. 110.
 — begin to revolt, iv. 114.
 — both the natives, and the Roman colony openly revolt, iv. 167.
 — are taken by storm, iv. 170.
 — Marcus, after his Banishment, retires to Antium, iii. 283.
T. Antonius, one of the decemvirs, iv. 240, 284, 302.
 — marches with four of his colleagues against the Æqui, iv. 284.
Apennine mountains, i. 24, 35. ii. 94.
Apiolani, their city taken and rased by Tarquinius Priscus, ii. 102.
Appeal from the consuls to the people, given by the Valerian law, ii. 344, 424. iii. 87, 211. iv. 73.
 — a punishment is demanded of the consuls, who obstructed an appeal to the people, iv. 74.
Appius. See Claudius.

- Aqueduct*, one of the most magnificent structures at Rome, ii. 129.
- C. Aquilius*, consul, iii. 382. iv. 198.
- bravely defeats the Hernici, iii. 385.
- triumphs over them, iii. 391.
- L. and M. Aquilius* are among the conspirators, ii. 321.
- are impeached, ii. 327.
- Ara Maxima*, i. 92.
- Arcadia*, formerly Lycaonia, i. 221.
- Atlas the first King of Arcadia, i. 139.
- the deluge of Arcadia, i. 139, 154.
- the Arcadians delight in mountains, i. 35.
- their migration from Peloponnesus on account of the deluge, i. 154.
- are the first Greeks, who failed to Italy, i. 29.
- what institutions they brought with Evander into Italy, i. 75.
- what place they first inhabited, i. 102.
- their most honoured and most ancient divinity was Pan, i. 71, 2.
- Archdemides*, archon at Athens, iv. 112.
- Arche Stratides*, archon at Athens, ii. 144.
- Arctinus*, an ancient poet, i. 153.
- Ardeas*, son of Ulysses, and founder of the city of Ardea, i. 165.
- Ardeates*, a people of Latium, ii. 409.
- the feciales of the Ardeates, i. 355, 6.
- are besieged by Tarquinius Superbus, ii. 265.
- make a truce with the Romans, ii. 296, 312.
- are ousted of the controverted lands, iv. 363, 4.
- revolt from the Romans on account of the controverted lands, iv. 365.
- are received into the friendship, and society of the Romans, iv. 377.
- Argolic* bucklers, i. 47.
- Argos*, the Achaian, i. 40.
- the history of the priestesses in Argos, i. 164.
- Aricia*, distant 120 stadia from Rome, iii. 50.
- is besieged by the Tyrrhenians under Aruns, the son of Porfena, ii. 366. iii. 158.
- relieved by Aristodemus of Cumæ, iii. 159.
- Aricini*, a people of Latium, ii. 409.
- desire succours from the Cumæans against the Tyrrhenians, iii. 158.
- accuse the Romans in the assembly held at Ferentinum, ii. 391.
- the Aricini, and the Ardeates are ousted of the controverted lands, iv. 363, 4.
- Aristocracy* not at Rome only, but also among the neighbouring people, iii. 94.
- Aristocrates*, father of Aristodemus, iii. 154.
- Aristodemus*, son of Aristocrates, why called Effeminate, iii. 154.
- upon what occasion, and in what manner he made himself tyrant at Cumæ, and the catastrophe he met with, iii. 154.
- performs a great achievement for his country in putting the Barbarians to flight, iii. 157.
- endeavours by all methods to gain the affections of the people, ib.
- leads the succours designed for Aricia, iii. 159.
- obtains a most famous victory, ib.
- having slain the partisans of the aristocracy,

END OF SAMPLE TEXT

The Complete Text can be found on our CD:
Primary Literary Sources For Ancient Literature
which can be purchased on our Website :
www.Brainfly.net

or by sending $64.95 in check or money order to :

Brainfly Inc.
5100 Garfield Ave. #46
Sacramento CA 95841-3839

TEACHER'S DISCOUNT:

If you are a TEACHER you can take advantage of our teacher's discount. Click on Teachers Discount on our website (www.Brainfly.net) or Send us $55.95 and we will send you a full copy of Primary Literary Sources For Ancient Literature AND our 5000 Classics CD (a collection of over 5000 classic works of literature in electronic format (.txt)) plus our Wholesale price list.

If you have any suggestions such as books you would like to see added to the collection or if you would like our wholesale prices list please send us an email to:

webcomments@brainfly.net